Volunteers serve more than 700 meals at 35th annual free Thanksgiving celebration in BSL

"Thanksgiving is the holiday of peace, the celebration of work and the simple life... a true folk-festival that speaks the poetry of the turn of the seasons, the beauty of seedtime and harvest, the ripe product of the year — and the deep, deep connection of all these things with God."

Despite the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, friends and families around the country gathered last week to give thanks, and dozens of local families continued their tradition of gathering with the Kelly clan for its 35th annual free Thanksgiving celebration.

"I think it went great," self-identified "Kelly Girl" Nancy Bosarge said. "I think it really helped the community, especially at this terrible time right now."

Bosarge said about 30 volunteers served more than 700 meals last week, both on the grounds of the Our Lady of the Gulf Community Center, and at curbside. All volunteers wore masks and gloves, and patrons were asked to do the same.

At the door, a greeter held a sign encouraging everyone to tell their server what they were thankful for this year.

Family matriarch Sally Kelly, Nancy's mother, started the tradition at the family's C's Restaurant, which has since closed.

Kelly was visiting relatives in Illinois this year and unable to return in time for the holiday, Bosarge said.

"She wasn't able to be there this year. She was a bit disappointed, but we had information on Sally Kelly Day, and I sent 45 thank-you cards for her to read.

The Bay St. Louis City Council last year declared Dec. 3 each year to be "Sally Kelly Day" in the city, to honor Kelly for her decades of service to the community.

"We just want to thank all of the people who donated," Bosarge said, "from the merchants to the parishioners to individuals who donated to the dinner to the volunteers. Without the whole community together, then we would never be able to accomplish this dinner."

"It takes a whole community effort."

COVID-19 hospitalizations reach an all-time high in Mississippi

ECHO STAFF

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) on Tuesday, reported 1,141 new cases of COVID-19 in the state and 29 new deaths.

Four of the COVID-19 related deaths occurred Nov. 19 and Nov. 22, identified from death certificate reports.

Seven new cases and one new death were reported in Hancock County. Hancock County’s total now stands at 1,243 with 41 COVID-19 related deaths.

“Mississippi’s total of COVID-19 cases since March 11 now stands at 154,411 with 3,836 deaths,” according to the agency’s statement on Tuesday. “There are now 200 active outbreaks of COVID-19 in long-term care facilities (where an outbreak is one or more cases among residents or staff).”

Over the weekend, the MSDH reported 1,845 cases and 27 deaths on Sunday and 1,553 cases and 10 deaths on Saturday. On Monday, the MSDH reported 1,485 cases and one death.

As of November 29, the MSDH reports that 1,008 Mississippians are hospitalized with confirmed infection; 238 patients in ICU; 107 patients hospitalized with suspected infection; and 135 patients on ventilators.

“Today (Monday) hospitalizations for COVID-19 have reached a record high in Missisissippi, and ICU bed occupancy is very high,” MSDH stated. “When cases rise, hospitalizations and deaths follow. If you’re not doing your part to stop the spread, it’s urgent that you start. Avoid large gatherings, keep a safe distance from others, and wear a mask in public places.”

As of November 29, the MSDH estimates that 128,746 Mississippi residents who had tested positive for COVID-19 are presumed recovered.

Statewide combined testing as of Nov. 28: MSDH: 130,478; Other testing providers: 1,236,355.

“Anyone with symptoms of fever, severe cough or severe chest pains – especially those who are older or in poor health – should make arrangements for testing with their doctor or one of the many healthcare providers now performing testing,” according to MSDH. “Healthcare providers can assess your health history and symptoms, and perform testing for COVID-19 as needed. MSDH is also helping conduct free drive-up testing sites in many parts of the state. Always call ahead to the testing provider for instructions on safely being examined before you visit for your test.”

Mississippi Physicians Call for Reinstitution of Statewide Mask Mandate

SEA COAST ECHO

With the lifting of the statewide mask mandate instituted on August 4th, the daily average of COVID-19 cases has increased at an alarming rate, overwhelming Mississippi’s hospital systems, resulting in a struggle to provide emergency care for patients, and the transferring of patients out of state. In order to protect the integrity of our healthcare system, the Mississippi State Medical Association (MSMA), supports Mississippi physicians’ call for a statewide mask mandate requiring masks in all public spaces.

“The COVID-19 pandemic has impacted healthcare delivery at every level. Our state’s healthcare system cannot continue to bear the overwhelming strain of the outbreak at its current state. The present stress on the healthcare system affects the ability of patients to get emergency care they desperately need,” said Dr. Claude Brunson, MSMA Executive Director.

Science and evidence have proven to be our best defenses against a health crisis such as this. We must be diligent in continuing to practice the measures that have aided us before in flattening the curve and stopping the spread of this deadly virus.

When the initial mask mandate was lifted on September 30th, daily COVID-19 numbers were around 500 cases per day.

The daily average has since increased to a current approximation of 1,200 new cases per day. Based on this data alone, evidence shows that masks and face coverings significantly reduce the spread of COVID-19.

Friday, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention released new evidence supporting this advice. Researchers analyzed coronavirus infection rates in Kansas following a statewide mask mandate.

They found that counties that chose to enforce the mandate saw their cases decrease.

Counties that chose to opt-out saw their cases continue to rise.

“When leaders fail to lead, then we often see a poor performance from those who are attempting to follow,” said Dr. Mark Horne, MSMA President. “The anti-mask, anti-personal distancing, anti-everything to slow the spread of the disease is an article of faith. And faith is not subject to fact,” Horne said.

Since the onset of COVID-19, physicians and healthcare workers have stood on the front lines, providing care for patients, and public trust, with expertise based on scientific knowledge. With the holiday season and winter weather approaching, we are certain that our state’s healthcare system cannot sustain the trajectory of the pandemic in its current state. To combat the devastating effects of COVID-19, we must act immediately, and in the best interest of the health of all Mississippians, by reissuing a statewide mask mandate through the remainder of the year.

The Mississippi State Medical Association is the largest physician advocacy organization in Mississippi, representing nearly 5,000 physicians and medical students.

Since 1856, MSMA

has been a trusted health policy leader and professional development resource for physicians, representing the unified voice of physicians statewide on state and federal health care issues while providing information needed to navigate health care legislation and regulatory changes.

Hon. Walter J. Gex, III, and the closing of a three-generation chapter in Hancock County law

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

On Thursday, November 12, the Honorable Walter J. Gex, III, passed away peacefully at his home in Diamondhead.

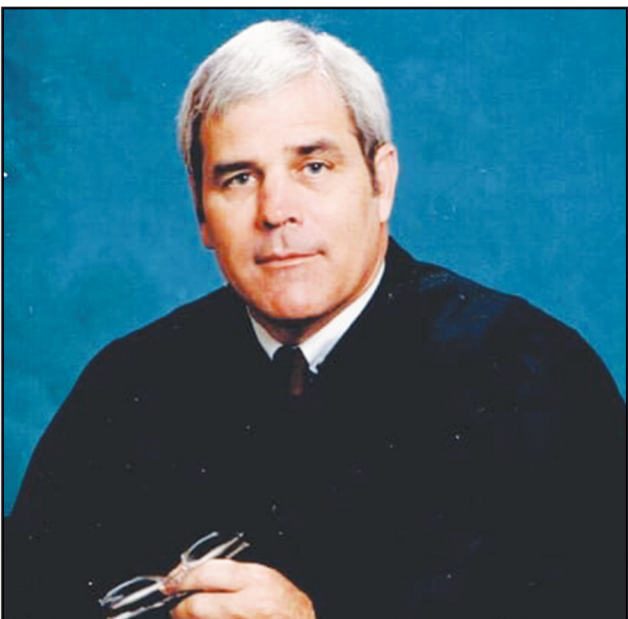

Walter, or how many came to know him as Walt, was born into a family that controlled the practice of law in Hancock County and along the Mississippi Gulf Coast for three generations.

He was born on March 20, 1939, to the late Walter J. Gex, Jr., and late Josephine Eldredge Gex DeBever. Walt graduated from Saint Stanislaus College in 1957 and later from The University of Mississippi School of Law. Walt was in private practice in Jackson from 1963 to 1972 and also served as an adjunct professor at the Mississippi College School of Law before returning to the Gulf Coast where he was in private practice until 1986.

Walt climbed to the penultimate position in the practice of law in the State of Mississippi when President Ronald Reagan nominated him as United States District Judge for the Southern District of Mississippi. It was a position he held until his passing.

Since his passing, he has been fondly remembered by those who practiced around him, against him, and in front of him on the bench. Walt had an immense personality but, at the same time, was grounded by an unwavering sense of humility and a revered sense of fairness.

It pained him to impose sentences but it was allegiance to the law and to fairness to impose such sentences. He often asked the clergy for prayers not only for those being sentenced but for the man who was called upon to impose the sentence. He was a man's jurist and the attorneys and claimants that sat before him realized that.

Walt was born into a legal family, was surrounded by it early on in his childhood, and throughout his life until his dying day. His grandfather, Walter J. Gex, Sr., was brought to Bay St. Louis as a young child from Saint Charles Parish in Louisiana by his father, Lucien Myrtille Gex. The elder Gex opened the L.M. Gex Merchantile Co. in Bay St. Louis on what is now Hancock Street. The original Gex home sat on the corner of Sycamore Street and Beach Boulevard just up the hill from Saint Stanislaus College.

Walter Sr. and his younger brother, Emile J. Gex, Sr., were both educated at SSC and completed their studies in 1894 and 1895. Both completed their study in law at The University of Mississippi and returned to Bay St. Louis and opened their private practice as Gex and Gex, Attorneys at Law. They comprised the first generation of Gex attorneys.

As history unfolds, both became masterful attorneys with Walter, Sr., becoming renowned as a railroad attorney. In fact, he became so well known that the largest railroad law firm in the country located in New York City wanted to name him as a partner but Walter Sr. refused. Emile Sr. served as County attorney and in the Mississippi Legislature for several terms.

Walter Sr. raised and reared two attorneys and a daughter that was regarded as knowledgeable as any attorney of the time. named Walter Jr. and Lucien M. Gex, Sr. were both attorneys while Ethel worked in the family firm and was regarded an equal in her knowledge of the law despite not having attended law school

Walter Jr. And Lucien Sr. both graduated from Saint Stanislaus in 1924 and 1925. They also studied law in college. Both returned to Bay St. Louis to practice. At different times, both served as city attorney and county attorney.

Emile Sr. had a son, Emile Jr., that also became an attorney and practiced for a short time before working for the Mississippi Employment Commission in Pearl River County.

Walter Jr., Lucien Sr., and Emile Jr. all made up the second generation of practicing attorneys in the Gex lineage.

Walter Jr. raised and reared two attorneys in Walter III and Joseph W. Gex, Sr. He also raised William Kenny who went on to become a Master Sergeant in the Mississippi Highway Patrol enforcing the laws of the State of Mississippi. Kenny was killed in the line of duty in Long Beach.

Walter III was county attorney prior to assuming his post as United States District Judge. Joseph Sr. served as city attorney twice and as Hancock County School District attorney from 1969-1995.

Lucien Sr. raised and reared two attorneys including Lucien M. Gex, Jr. and Gerald C. Gex, Sr. Both Lucien Jr. and Gerald Sr. served as city and county attorney at various times during their lifetimes.

Wena, the sister of Walter Jr., married Milton Phillips, Sr. and together they raised and reared Walter James Phillips who became an attorney and also served in the Mississippi Legislature for several terms prior to his passing in the 1990s.

Walter III, Joseph Sr., Lucien Jr., Gerald Sr., And Walter James Phillips made up the third generation of practicing attorneys in the family lineage.

Joseph Sr. raised and reared a son, Bryce, who currently serves as Chief of Investigation for the Mississippi Department of Marine Resources enforcing state fishing laws and regulations.

With the passing of Walter III, the family's connection to the practice of law moves from legacy to legend. Now, the future awaits the next in line to take on the practice of law in a family upon whose shoulders the scales of justice in Hancock County have squarely balanced for three generations.

Relay for Life Team Waveland to host Street Fair this Saturday

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

This Saturday, Dec. 5, Relay for Life Team Waveland will host the first Coleman Avenue Street Fair.

"We had the idea for a street fair to bring the people to Coleman to see its potential," Relay for Life Team Waveland co-captain Celeste Pitre said.

Relay for Life is under the umbrella of the American Cancer Society. This is Team Waveland's fifth year to participate in Relay for Life fundraising activities, Pitre said.

The Hancock County teams raise money each year and the funds are used to benefit local families battling cancer, she said.

As of Tuesday, there are about 25 vendors signed up to participate, but Pitre said the team will be accepting vendor applications until Saturday morning. Vendor spots are 10 x 10 and the vendor fee is $20. Vendors should arrive by 9 a.m. to set up, she said.

Vendors are responsible for bringing their own table, canopy, and a bottle of hand sanitizer for the table, Pitre said.

"We are asking the public and vendors to wear a mask and follow social distance guidelines," she said.

The street fair will be open to the public from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. There will be crafts, homemade baked goods, and live music.

All proceeds from vendor fees will benefit Relay for Life Team Waveland. Vendors will also receive a tax deduction form for their records.

"We want people to come out and see the vendors and make this a good turnout," Pitre said.

Those interested in a vendor application can contact Pitre through Facebook messenger or contact Penny King at kingpen1961@gmail.com or 228-304-7615.

Cuties

Before jumping on a bandwagon to boycott this or that, I believe that one should learn more about the subject.

Whenever I see a new hashtag, it intrigues me, so I will inevitably be drawn to the subject.

Such was the case with the recent #cancelnetflix trend.

Apparently, it began with a poster that depicted the young actors in a film named “Cuties” in their dance outfits mid-dance with their midriffs exposed.

I never saw the poster, but I did see several people on my various social media accounts using the hashtag and accusing the filmmakers and Netflix of promoting pedophilia.

I also had a sneaking suspicion that none of them had actually seen the film.

Some politicians spoke out against the film and said it promoted child pornography and a grand jury in Texas indicted Netflix for “lewd exhibition of girls under 18.”

It’s been on my watchlist for quite some time, because I wanted to see for myself if the accusations warranted any kind of merit.

The film, which is directed by French filmmaker Maïmouna Doucouré, is about an 11-year-old girl named Amy, a Senegalese girl living in Paris with her family, who are Muslim.

At school, Amy longs to join a group of dancers named Cuties.

She sees them as the popular girls and will do what it takes to join the ranks.

Amy steals a phone and begins watching music videos depicting adult dancers performing more provocative moves. She learns the moves in an effort to make an impression on the other girls.

I’m not going to give away the entire film. I feel like if you want to watch it, then go ahead. But if you don’t want to watch it, that’s also fine, but I don’t think people should just jump on a bandwagon or a hashtag because it seems popular to or you need somewhere to direct your outrage.

There are moments in “Cuties” that I do think the director could have chosen to shoot or film differently. There are moments where it’s downright uncomfortable to watch.

But, while watching, I felt sad for the characters and maybe not for reasons you might think.

It wasn’t because I thought these girls were to become the next victims of pedophilia, it was because the experiences depicted mirrored some of my own as an adolescent girl dealing with all the challenges of coming-of-age, which is uncomfortable and challenging in itself.

Wicker Welcomes News of COVID-19 Vaccines

Operation Warp Speed Produced Scientific Miracle in Record Time

Americans received uplifting news recently in our fight against the coronavirus. Two American drug companies, Pfizer and Moderna, announced that their newly developed COVID-19 vaccines were highly successful in late clinical trials and are safe for use. Pfizer’s vaccine was 95 percent effective in producing immunity against the virus, and Moderna’s vaccine posted a similar success rate of 94.5 percent. These results are the clearest signs yet that Congress’s multi-billion dollar investment in vaccines this year is paying off. Americans can be encouraged that victory against this virus may finally be on the horizon.

VACCINE DISTRIBUTION SHOULD START BY DECEMBER

As clinical trials reach the finish line, drug companies are going ahead with mass-production of their vaccines so they can be deployed quickly if approved. Moderna, for example, is ramping up production and is ready to begin shipping vaccines immediately once the FDA issues an emergency authorization. Pfizer has set up a massive distribution network and says it can deliver vaccines anywhere in the U.S. within days. Meanwhile, four other drug makers are making steady progress through clinical trials and expect to distribute their vaccines early next year. One of those vaccines, developed by AstraZeneca in England, shows the potential to be 90 percent effective.

From the Senate

By Sen. Roger Wicker

The federal government has agreed to purchase hundreds of millions of vaccine doses, which Americans will receive free of charge. States will receive the vaccine in proportion to their population, and state governments will be allowed to prioritize which groups are vaccinated first. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that frontline health care workers and first responders be immunized first, followed by the elderly and those with preexisting conditions. Health experts estimate most Americans will receive the vaccine by June of next year.

GOVERNMENT HARNESSED THE POWER OF PRIVATE INNOVATION

Vaccines normally take years to develop, go through clinical trials, receive FDA approval, and become available to the public. These COVID-19 vaccines were produced in record time because of Operation Warp Speed, a public-private partnership devised by the Trump Administration and funded by Congress. In March, Congress passed legislation to invest billions in vaccine research and development, streamline the approval process, and pre-purchase millions of vaccine doses.

As a result of Operation Warp Speed, the U.S. government will own the first 100 million doses of the Moderna vaccine as well as the first 100 million doses of the Pfizer vaccine. Officials estimate there will be enough doses to immunize 20 million American adults by the end of 2020, and at least 25 million more each month after that. Vaccinations will be made available at major drug stores, pharmacies, and shopping centers. I am pushing Congress to provide additional funding to help states prepare for and manage vaccine distribution.

These COVID-19 vaccines are a triumph of American ingenuity and scientific genius. They are a testament to what our nation can accomplish when we work together to meet an urgent need. But even as we celebrate, we cannot let our guard down. In recent weeks we have seen a spike in coronavirus cases, with deaths and hospitalizations reaching new highs. Until the vaccines are approved and widely distributed to the general public, we all need to keep taking health precautions to slow the spread of the virus – wearing masks, standing six feet apart, and washing hands frequently. Taking these steps, even with the end in sight, can save lives.

"SO WE WENT AHEAD AND HAD A HUGE THANKSGIVING DINNER WITHOUT FACE MASKS OR SOCIAL DISTANCING AND NOW WE NEED TO SCHEDULE OUR NEXT BIG FAMILY EVENT."

By James L. Cummins or listen to another story about the conservation efforts of Wildlife Mississippi. So ask a friend to join us also!

Our mission is to conserve Mississippi’s natural heritage for the enjoyment by all of Mississippi’s residents and visitors. Because of our beliefs and principles, we are different than most conservation and environmental organizations. We have three basic areas of work; they are: 1) to conserve waters and water quality; 2) conserve fish and wildlife habitat; and 3) promote conservation that makes good economic sense.

Our success is measured by achievements in conservation, restoration, and enhancement of Mississippi’s lands and waters. Furthermore, all funds raised by Wildlife Mississippi will stay here at home in Mississippi.

Wildlife Mississippi believes that it takes a strong economy to sustain a quality environment that conservation should include both private and public lands and waters, that private property rights encourage good stewardship, and that conservation makes Mississippi a better place to live, work, and raise a family.

To date, we have protected 145,813 acres, restored 81,777 acres, and enhanced 336,631 acres for a total of 564,221 acres. That is impressive by any standard.

We need the support of more Mississippians. In fact, it’s your opportunity to have a voice in what happens to our great state. With your membership, you receive a subscription to our quarterly Wildlife Mississippi magazine, a membership card, and a decal. Also, depending on what level of support, there are more benefits. from Page 5

The film also deals with bullying; weight issues; balancing religious beliefs with popular culture and the world at large; and coming to terms with all the changes of a young girl's body. I was bullied in school. I didn't look like the other girls. I was always the overweight girl.

Deep down, I always wanted to look and dress like the other girls because I thought it would make me more likable.

Instead, I wore oversized clothing that hid my body and the shame I felt for being overweight.

I had friends who danced in dance class. For years and years, I went to their dance recitals. I still attend dance recitals, now it's just the children of my friends who are the dancers.

Quite honestly, I've seen three-year-olds on local stages wearing less clothing and dancing — in my opinion — just as provocatively as the girls in "Cuties." And yet, that is encouraged and applauded on the local levels, just like the cheerleading and dance teams for sporting events. I'm not saying there's anything necessarily wrong with dancing or cheerleading, it's the hypocrisy I'm not a big fan of.

I always wanted to learn how to dance. I watched a lot of MTV and would want to dance like Madonna, Britney Spears, and the Spice Girls did.

But, I knew I didn't look like them, so I never actively pursued anything of the sort.

Growing up is hard. It's not easy dealing with all the emotions and physical changes, especially when you have desires to fit in and do whatever is necessary to get in with the "It" crowd.

There was one key difference between the events depicted in the film and my own experience, social media.

The girls relied heavily on online music videos and how people depict themselves on social media platforms to gain in popularity.

I never had that burden to deal with and I'm thankful for that every day.

I felt an acute sadness for the girls. There was no encouragement to be themselves or just be an 11-year-old child. Maybe that's the message the director was trying to get across.

Everyone, it seems, wants to be popular. And for these girls, being popular meant wearing clothing and performing dance moves that are more appropriate for adults.

Finally, what the film also depicted was a lack of parental supervision. I don't know if it was intentional or not, but throughout the film, I kept asking myself, "where are these kids' parents?"

Even children raised in the best of households have moments of rebellion and exploration, which I think is healthy, to an extent.

But what about all the potentially unhealthy things parents willingly place in the hands of their children? Things like cellphones, clothing, computers, televisions, fast food, etc.

I mean, sure, it might be easier to blame a streaming company for the problems of this world, it takes away from having to blame one's self.

As far as the promotion of pedophilia, I do not think the film does that.

After I watched the film, I looked up some articles about it and came across one written by Caira Conner for The Atlantic entitled "Watching the outrage over Cuties as a survivor of pedophilia."

According to her article, her father began sexually abusing her at the age of two years old.

"I thought of how worried the film's critics were that showing young girls discovering their own selves would 'whet the appetites of pedophiles,' and threaten young lives," Conner wrote. "I thought of how pedophiles are cowards who rely on secrecy and the shame their victims feel to act in the first place. To say that Cuties enables sexual abuse is to miss the point of the film. This movie brings a rare vision of girlhood to light, and posits that sexual exploration — in all its discomfort and modern complexities — is actually okay, even normal. Cuties celebrates the sense of self I didn't feel at age 12. The kind that pedophilia kept hidden in the dark. The kind I'm working on finding now."

The Merck Manual defines pedophilia as a disorder "characterized by recurring, intense sexually arousing fantasies, urges or behavior involving children (usually 13 years or younger)."

It can be boys, girls, or both sexes, the website states.

According to the Rape, Abuse, and Incest National Network (RAINN), the "majority of perpetrators are someone the child or family knows. As many as 93 percent of victims under the age of 18 know the abuser. They can have any relationship to the child including an older sibling or playmate, family member, a teacher, a coach or instructor, a caretaker, or the parent of another child."

RAINN goes on to state that abusers manipulate their victims into staying quiet by using their position of power to coerce or intimidate the child.

"Child sexual abuse is not only a physical violation; it is a violation of trust and/or authority," the RAINN website states.

You know what I think has a hand in promoting pedophilia? Not holding the abusers accountable for their crimes.

In Picayune, I wrote a story about a youth pastor who abused one of the underage members of the congregation.

As a former teacher, I had to report at least two instances of suspected abuse. I saw first-hand the drastic behavioral changes that are associated with sexual abuse. A list of those of can be found on RAINN's website at www.rainn.org.

I'm sure we've all seen the countless stories about Catholic priests abusing their powers and children. There have been teachers, coaches, and others who do the same thing.

But, I never see the hashtags for their victims. Nor do I see hashtags to cancel these abusers.

I know it's uncomfortable to think that a trusted person such as a preacher, priest, teacher, or respected community member could be capable of such a thing. But just because they have the title, doesn't mean they're immune to this disorder or incapable of such things.

People will continue to support the organization (religious or otherwise) regardless of the facts presented. Some find ways to blame the victim, because surely they did something to entice the individual.

Parents often bring the perpetrator into the home, whether it be in the form of a new significant other, friend, or neighbor.

The mindset of “it can’t happen here,” or “so and so would never do such a thing,” is such a toxic one. It can and they do.

Children are so vulnerable and they look to their adult caregivers to protect them, love them, and teach them the ways of the world in a safe environment.

It’s not Netflix’s responsibility to care for someone else’s children and all the hashtags in the world won’t stop a predator. Be a responsible parent and caregiver. Monitor your child’s online activity closely, who they associate with, and believe them when they tell you they don’t want to be around a certain person. Most importantly, stop protecting the abusers.

Society needs to start holding the predators more accountable. Harsher sentences and maybe more mental health treatment are a couple of possibilities.

The National Child Abuse Hotline is 1-800.4.A.CHILD (422-4453) and is open 24/7 and people can speak on the condition of anonymity.

To speak with trained people, call the National Sexual Assault Hotline at 800-656-HOPE (4673) or chat online at online.rainn.org.

CHARLES ANTHONY HAAS
MIKE LEE ‘MATCH STEM’ MCDOWELL

CHARLES ANTHONY HAAS

Charles Anthony Haas, age 58, of Kiln passed away on November 8th, 2020.

He was preceded in death by his father H. Vernon “Dutch” Haas.

He is survived by his mother, Merle Depreo Haas; siblings, Verna Haas, Rhonda Stockstill, Annette Haas, Janet Palmer, and Phillip Haas (Sharon); nieces and nephews, Rachel Neal (Glenn), Jonathan Stockstill, Erica Palmer, Joshua Haas, Marissa Haas, and Justin Haas; his great nieces and nephews, Whitney Neal-Dedeaux (Justin), Braden Neal, and Taylor Toland.

Charles was born July 30th, 1962 in Gulfport, MS. He was employed by Kiln Utility and Fire District for the past 16 years. He loved to serve the Kiln community. Charles was a loving son, brother, uncle, and a close friend to many.

The Mass of Christian burial will be celebrated at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church on Saturday, December 5th, 2020 at 11am, where visitation for the public will begin at 10:00 am. Interment will follow at Bayou CoCo Cemetery.

In lieu of flowers, the family is requesting donations to Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church or Hancock County Animal Shelter.

RIEMANN FAMILY FUNERAL HOME, 9113 Kiln Delisle Rd., Pass Christian is serving the family. An online guest book may be signed, and condolences and photos shared at www.riemannfamily.com

Due to COVID-19 restrictions, face masks and social distancing will be required. In place of a hug, please place a card in the basket provided for Charles’ mother.

Secure your Christmas tree for transport

SEA COAST ECHO

With Christmas season here, the Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) wants you to make sure your perfect Christmas tree makes it home by properly securing it to your vehicle.

“Unsecured Christmas trees can easily put your safety, and the safety of other motorists, at risk,” said Melinda McGrath, P.E., MDOT Executive Director. “Trees could become airborne and strike another vehicle.

“They could also come to rest in the road, creating a hazard for everyone.”

Road debris from unsecured loads, such as Christmas trees, was responsible for more than 19,000 injuries and 680 deaths across the country in 2016, according to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA). In addition to being a safety hazard, debris from unsecured loads contributes to roadside litter which costs Mississippi over $3 million a year to remove. Motorists responsible for debris from unsecured loads could face fines up to $500 and up to six months in prison.

“The holiday season should be a joyous time of year,” McGrath said. “Keep the cheer alive and keep everyone safe by securely bringing your Christmas tree home.”

Whether your tree is fresh-cut from the farm or purchased from a vendor, you can safely transport it by taking the following steps:

Use an appropriate vehicle. Christmas trees can be securely tied to roof racks. If you don’t have a roof rack, use the bed of a truck or the inside of an SUV or van.

Tie the tree down with strong rope or nylon straps at several points along the trunk. Lightweight twine found at many tree lots may not be strong enough.

The bottom of the trunk should point toward the front of the vehicle.

Secure loose branches with netting, rope or twine.

Always double check the load to make sure it is secure.

Drive slowly. Higher speeds create air resistance which can cause tie-downs to fail.

Man accused in shooting says there’s more to the story

SEA COAST ECHO

A man accused of a “domestic violence” shooting in Waveland this past September said Monday that the incident has been mischaracterized in the media.

James Kenneth Staton, 51, was arrested Sept. 24 for aggravated assault after allegedly shooting Brian Allen Turner in the side with a .22 pistol. Turner was the ex-boyfriend of Staton’s then-girlfriend, Monica J. Thomas, 44. Thomas was also arrested after the incident for allegedly “providing false identifying information” to police after Staton called them to report the incident.

“The stories made it sound like it was some jealousy issue,” James Kenneth Staton said Monday. “It wasn’t like that at all.”

Instead, he said, he viewed the incident as rightful self-defense after Turner barged into Thomas’s apartment and refused to leave.

According to the Waveland police report, Staton told officers at the scene that he and Thomas were “both in the living room watching tv and hanging out, when the front door opened and (Turner) entered the apartment.

Staton told police he had thought Turner was one of Thomas’s brothers that he hadn’t yet met until Thomas and Turner “started pushing and shoving each other, at which point Mr. Staton told Mr. Turner to leave the apartment or he was going to call the police,” according to the report. “Mr. Staton advised that Mrs. Thomas told him not to call the police, at which point Mr. Staton told Mr. Turner once more that he needed to leave.

“Mr. Staton then went to get his gun out of that room and returned to the living room area and told Mr. Turner that if he did not leave, that he would shoot him. Mr. Staton advised that he still did not leave, so he fired a single shot at the door as a warning shot.

“Mr. Staton said Brian then told him that if he was going to shoot him, he better kill him because he was going to beat his ass if not.

“Mr. Staton then advised that Mr. Turner started walking towards him in the hallway/kitchen area at which point Mr. Staton fired a single shot at Mr. Turner. Mr. Staton advised that he believed the bullet may have hit him somewhere in the torso on the opposite side of his heart due to the fact that he was not trying to kill him or anything, he just wanted Mr. Turner to leave.”

“Mr. Staton said Brian stopped, raised up his shirt and looked where he was just shot at and told Mr. Staton that ‘I can’t believe that you just shot me.””

Afterwards, according to the report, Thomas drove off with Turner in her vehicle. Staton gave police a description of the car, and officers stopped it near the Avocado’s restaurant in Bay St. Louis.

Turner told officers he just visited his girlfriend’s apartment to drop off some art supplies for her, according to the report. He had thought things between the two of them were fine until earlier in the day when she told him not to come over, according to the report.

“Mr. Turner said he went anyway because he was going to drop off her art supplies that she wanted. When he arrived at the apartment, the door was unlocked so he did not have to use the key that Monica had given him.

“When he entered the apartment, he saw an unknown male sitting on the sofa and the male shot him in the chest,” according to the report.

Turner told police he was not mad at Staton and did not wish to press charges on him for assault, the report said. He also refused medical treatment, saying he would go to North Shore Hospital later, if he felt the need.

Turner also signed a “refusal to sign charges” form.

The case has not yet been adjudicated.

ARE YOU ONE THAT PRAYS OUT LOUD?

By GARY ANDREWS

There are many people in this world that will voice their prayers to Jesus in an audible voice that people around them can hear and understand. In my opinion there is nothing wrong with this. When you speak with someone else, the conversation is always going to be something that others can hear, unless of course, you are using sign language. Many years ago my wife and I were returning from a conference in Dallas, TX. Our flight from Dallas to Memphis was on a big jet however; our flight from Memphis to Tupelo, MS was on a smaller twin engine passenger plane. Most of us that have flown quite a bit would refer to these smaller aircraft as “puddle jumpers”. This plane held up to 20 to 25 passengers. My wife and I had enjoyed our trip so far. A bit of uneasiness came over us as we sat at our gate waiting to get on our plane home. We did not know the size or type of plane we would be boarding but we found out really quick it wouldn’t be a large jet. It was a beautiful sunny day and the pilot spoke over the loud speaker that we had clear weather for our 45 minute trip. Once we were in the air we could see the ground and I could tell he was following Highway 78 from Memphis to Tupelo. My wife and I relaxed back in our seats, closed our eyes, and listened to some of the conversations of the business men that were behind us. Each and every time I travel, whether with my wife or family, I am in constant communication with the Lord asking for guidance, traveling mercies, and God speed. I pray for the people around me that should they not know Jesus as their personal Savior, that they would come to know Him personally. Many times if I am traveling alone I will speak in an audible voice to the Lord. When I am around people, unless I am called on to pray out loud, I will speak to the Lord through a silent voice. Half way through our trip from Memphis to Tupelo we started feeling some turbulence and the plane started bouncing around. Even though we only had approximately ten more minutes in the air, our clear weather had suddenly become a fierce storm with lightning and loud claps of thunder all around us. The only message we received from the pilot was to insure that we stay in our seats and secure our seat belts around us. Even with our seat belts secured tightly around us we hit some kind of wind that caused us to bounce so hard that our heads hit the ceiling of the plane. With this Linda was speaking in a very audible voice praying to God to protect us and give us continued safety on our trip. I leaned over to her and said, “People around us can hear you. You may want to voice these prayers silently.” The men behind us said, “Please let her continue to pray out loud.” The people in front of us echoed their desire to hear the prayers as well. The pilot did an exceptional job of landing that plane in Tupelo bringing us through the storm that tossed us around tremendously. When we deplaned the men told us thanks for the prayers and they felt it was what got us down safely. It is my hope that these men knew Jesus personally and due to their stature of being business people didn’t want someone looking at them as religious over business. If they didn’t know Him personally, I hope they found their way. We acknowledged to the pilot what a good job he did getting us down safely and he said, “It wasn’t me but the good Lord above.” I am so glad he is a Christian and talks with the Lord regularly. Praying out loud bothers some people. They are not opposed to it and relish in it when someone else is speaking to the Lord in a very audible voice. Many times non-Christians hear our prayers and appreciate them as well. None of us should ever be ashamed of talking with the Lord, whether it is an audible prayer or a silent one.

REQUEST FOR QUALIFICATIONS FOR ENGINEERING SERVICES
The City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi is requesting sealed statements of qualifications ("Statements") from qualified individuals or firms to provide engineering services relating to the repair of the City of Bay St. Louis Municipal Harbor due to Hurricane Zeta damage.
Said proposals will be received in the City Clerk's office, City of Bay St. Louis, 688 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, until 10:00 A.M., Monday, December 28, 2020, after which time they will be opened by the Selection Committee. The City is not responsible for receipt of statements or delays in transmission of proposals.
Statements

received after the indicated time for submission shall be considered non-responsive and shall not be opened. Please submit five (5) hard copies of the statement.

The statement of qualifications should be submitted in a sealed envelope clearly identified as follows:
NAME OF FIRM OR INDIVIDUAL
BSL MUNICIPAL HARBOR REPAIR DUE TO HURRICANE ZETA DAMAGE
STATEMENT OF QUALIFICATIONS FOR ENGINEERING SERVICES
The selected individual or firm shall be responsible for complete engineering services in accordance with applicable state and federal laws, regulations and procedures. The individual or firm's responsibilities will include preparing project cost estimates and required engineering services through project closure in accordance with federal, state and local laws, regulations and policies. The scope of work will include, but not limited to, the following: preparation of documents and specifications for any and all repairs needed to the Bay St Louis Municipal Harbor from damage caused by Hurricane Zeta; evaluation of damage to the Bay St Louis Municipal caused by Hurricane Zeta; Harbor distribution of bid documents; assistance in bid opening and preparation of bid tabulation; preparation of construction contracts; performance of construction administration, including inspections, review and approval of contractor payment applications, and periodic reporting to the City. Activities will include insuring compliance with all aspects of project design and implementation.
A Selection Committee will review each statement and select a qualified individual or firm. Each member of the committee will assign points to each criteria based on the content of the statement. Negotiations will be conducted initially with the firm receiving the highest number of points based on the factors below, as rated by the Selection Committee. If a mutually satisfactory contract cannot be negotiated with the firm, the firm will be requested to submit a best and final offer, in writing, and if a contract cannot be reached after the best and final offer, negotiation with that firm will be terminated. Negotiations then will be initiated with the subsequently listed firm in the order of rating, and this procedure will be continued until a mutually satisfactory contract has been negotiated. In addition to reaching a fair and reasonable price for required work, the objective of negotiations will be to reach an agreement on the provisions of the proposed contract including scope and extent of work and other essential requirements.

Proposals will be evaluated according to the following factors: 0-25 points, Evidence of individual or firm's ability to perform the work, as indicated by profiles of the principals and staff's professional and technical competence and experience (New construction is the focus of this competence and experience section.); 0-25 points, Capability to provide professional services in a timely manner taking into consideration the physical location of firm and availability of staff; 0-25 points, Demonstrate knowledge of local building codes and zoning ordinances—including specific examples of new public constructions; 0-15 points, Past performance in terms of cost control, quality of work and compliance with performance schedules—including specific examples of value engineering and cost control measures for similar projects; 0-10 points, General response to the RFQ.

Statements may be held by the City for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days from the date of opening of proposals for the purpose of reviewing the statements and investigating the qualifications of the engineer prior to awarding the contract. The City is an equal opportunity employer. DBE/MBE and/or WBE individuals/firms are encouraged to submit statements.
The City reserves the right to reject any and all statements and to waive any informality in statements received.

OPA! Christmas Greek Style: Pastries & So Much More on Dec. 11 - 14

SEA COAST ECHO

The Greek Pastry Collection available this Christmas from Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church will transport you across the boundaries of land and sea. Once you have tasted these pastries, they will remind you of a testament to the people and periods of cultures alive with romanticism and richness.

Time for Christmas and Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church's International Christmas Pastry Sale and, yes those Greek pastries that you love are available to fill your stockings for Christmas. Every holiday season for over 50 years people all over the Mississippi Gulf Coast come to Holy Trinity for its annual Christmas Greek Pastry Sale (alas, we are unable to do the Christmas Festival this year). It is here again, on Friday December 11, noon – 7 pm, Saturday December 12, 10 am - 6 pm and Sunday December 13, 1 pm – 5 pm at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church in Biloxi. Our Christmas Pastry Collection is available in assorted Christmas gift boxes.

The traditional Greek pastries are here once more. Everyone's favorite (and it sells out every Christmas) is the Almond Cookie. Two more favorites are Baklava which comes full of walnuts and drenched in honey, and Kourambiedes (the wedding cookie) which is coated in confectioner sugar. We have Kourakia a buttery twist that goes great with coffee, Finekia which offers a perfect blend of almond meal, nuts and cinnamon. Also available are Spanakopita (spinach pies), Tyropita (cheese pies) and Tsoureki (the popular Greek sweet almond bread), and the ever popular Ouzo Cake. Also available is Tiramisu (a cup with lady fingers, creme, vanilla espresso and Grand Marnier), Greek Canolli (pastry puff filled with cream cheese and whipped cream), Athenian Chocolate Mousse (chocolate cakes, custard & ganache), and delicious Kataifi (shredded filo with walnuts, honey) .

Pastries from Russia/Ukraine include a Russian favorite Kolachy pastry with Lekvar (plum) filling (sells out every year), a Cognac cake, and Ukrainian Rye Bread. Also, growing in popularity each year is Vareniki (potato/cheese filled pierogies), which sold out quickly last year. Two items from Hungary include Makos Beigli (poppysed roll) and Dios Beigli (walnut roll).

Order pickups will be spaced out over three days to make it as safe an experience as possible. We will assemble preorders so they will be available when you come to pick your Christmas Pastry Order. However, you can still walk up and place an order from our wonderful pastry collection. Christmas Pastry pickup location is on the Holy Trinity church grounds at 255 Beauvoir Rd, Biloxi, MS 39531.

Order early as many of last year's Christmas Pastry items sold out. Order questions: Maria Loukatos: 727- 858-9505 or online at www.holytrinitybiloxi.org

The Mississippi State Senior Tournament was this month and Diamondhead had two of our players to finish second in their division which was played at Grand Bear. They were Amy Swint and Jeanne Hudgins. Congratulation ladies.

MDMR accepting public comments for 2019 Mississippi Bonnet Carré Fisheries Disaster Recovery Program

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (MDMR) is in the process of working with NOAA to develop a spend plan for the 2019 Mississippi Bonnet Carré Fisheries Disaster Recovery Program. The agency is requesting public comments for the program's spend plan through Monday, Dec. 14, 2020.

Earlier this year, NOAA allocated $88 million to respond to the impacts of the 2019 Gulf of Mexico freshwater flooding events in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. Mississippi will receive $21,290,492 of those funds to address the impacts to marine fisheries that resulted from the openings of the Bonnet Carré Spillway in 2019.

Through the 2019 Mississippi Bonnet Carré Fisheries Disaster Recovery Program, the MDMR will conduct financial assistance in the form of direct payments to the impacted industries in order to alleviate the losses that were sustained as a result of the flooding event. Projects to enhance and improve Mississippi's marine fisheries and applicable seafood businesses will likewise aid in the long-term stability of these industries. The MDMR will also administer restoration activities to enhance habitats damaged from the spillway openings.

Public comments on the proposed plan can be submitted through Dec. 14, 2020, via email at 2019BCFund@dmr.ms.gov. For more information, visit dmr.ms.gov/mdmr-accepting-public-comments-2019-ms-bc-fisheries-disaster-recovery-program/.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the state by managing all marine life, public trust wetlands, adjacent uplands and waterfront areas to provide for the optimal commercial, recreational, educational and economic uses of these resources consistent with environmental concerns and social changes. Visit the DMR online at dmr.ms.gov.

Meet Rolo, a stunningly handsome, 3 year old American Staffordshire Terrier mix, who is in dire need of special person or family to save him. He will need someone experienced with dogs suffering with stress and shelter fatigue, and we'll explain why. Rolo was straying in a wooded area of Waveland for about 3 months. Several folks in the neighborhood fed him and tried to coax him out of the woods and gain his trust. He finally warmed up to one neighbor enough to be coaxed into her house. He played with the family's dogs and was fine with their kitty. Rolo even slept in bed with this kind lady. Unfortunately, this was only a temporary arrangement. This sweet boy was surrendered to the shelter in hopes of either locating his original family or finding him a forever home. Fortunately, Rolo was microchipped when scanned; however, his originally owner had rehomed him, and contact was never made with his second owner. Rolo's original owner spoke with us about his temperamental behavior while in their home, and felt it was best that he join a family with older children. We, of course, will respect her advice and insist that he join either an adult only household, or a family with children 14 years or older. Rolo may have once been house and crate trained. He walks excellently on a leash, and shares weekly walks with our dedicated volunteers. They have observed, as we have as well, that Rolo has lost hope of ever finding his true forever family. He is currently despondent and unresponsive to affection and even treats. His joyfulness while in foster care has faded, and his expressions reveal a drastic change in demeanor. He needs a lifeline, and he needs it ASAP! Rolo would thrive as the best friend of a single person or couple, who could devote quality time to his recovery from shelter fatigue and stress. Companionship is all he seeks. He just wants to be loved, and to return that love unconditionally. A home with a secure fenced yard would be ideal, as well as daily walks with his human(s). We feel that once he is out of the confinement of the shelter and into a loving home environment, Rolo will regain his smile and enthusiasm for life. Potential adopters must bring their child(ren) and dog(s) to the shelter for a meet-n-greet to ensure compatibility. Please call our front desk at 228-466-4516 to schedule an appointment to meet this handsome fella.

Walk named Freshman of the Year and 2nd team All-Sun Belt at USA

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Rebecca Walk, a 2020 Our Lady Academy graduate and All-American volleyball player, was recently named the 2020 Freshman of the Year for the Sun Belt Conference and a second-team All-Sun Belt Conference selection.

Walk, only the second player in program history to receive SBC Freshman of the Year and first since 2013, appeared in all 22 matches for the Jaguars this year and started 13 of them.

She led the Sun Belt Conference in hitting percentage with a mark of .377.

She tallied 153 kills on 305 attempts during the season and recorded 55 blocks.

While at OLA, she led the Crescents to five consecutive state volleyball titles while being named an All-American twice and led the nation in hitting percentage (66.0%), kills (883), and kill percentage (70.9%) her senior season.

Red Fish and The Red CORK

Without a doubt, had one of the most unforgettable fishing trips I've ever been a part of. Had my old buddy Tim Donner, and his cousins/buddies Chuck, Adam and Danny as anglers and witnesses.

They hooked a redfish on one of the first few casts of the day. The fish broke off, but the hook and the bright red Boat Monkey popping Cork, stayed attached to the fish. This would be the best thing that could've ever happened.

We were in a very narrow ditch, barely wider than the boat. The ditch was a dead end, and the numerous redfish couldn't get around us. They were trapped.

We spent the rest of the day watching and waiting for that bright red cork to appear. It would show back up every couple of minutes.

Shore Thing Fishing Report

By Cpt. Sonny Schindler

Tim and the fellas would tell a story, have a snack, or grab a beverage, and wait for the cork to show up. "There it is"!, Signaled everyone to get ready. Turned out, there was a huge school of reds in there, and that red cork was showing us exactly where they were.

Every time any cast landed near that cork, someone pulled a redfish out of the ditch. Sometimes we had several fish on at once.

As the tide fell out, we had the red cork, and the redfish right next to us. We had already filled the fish box (and the drink box) with reds. It was time to get our red cork back, and be on our way. We put a bait right next to it, but another red inhaled the bait. The fish ran over the other line, and we had TWO big reds on the same line! The red cork fish eventually got free, but swam right next to the other side of the boat. We picked up another fishing pole, got the red cork, got the fish, and went on our way.

It was one of the coolest things I've ever seen. Tim and the guys made the most of it, and had themselves a big time.

As always, have fun and be safe.

just thank everybody for coming out and making it such a success.” The parade included golf cars, dune buggies, Jeeps, walkers, dancers, the Bay High Band and High Steppers, Santa Claus on the Radio Flyer and the Raw Oyster Marching Club. After the parade, the city hosted ceremonial lighting of the Christmas tree on the lawn of the Hancock County Courthouse. There are plenty more Christmas celebrations planned, including Christmas in the Pass this Friday, Dec. 4, starting at 5 p.m. at Davis Avenue in Pass Christian. On Thursday, Dec. 3, the Old Town Merchants Association will host the annual Nativity Walk with luminaries and music from 5-7 p.m. On Saturday, Dec. 5, the Pearlinton community will host its annual Christmas parade beginning at 1 p.m. It will start at the old Charles B. Murphy Elementary School, rol up White’s Road to Seventh Ave., down to Hwy. 90, down 604, and end at the Pearlinton Community Center. On Sunday, Dec. 6, the city of Waveland will host the Christmas Family Fest from 1-4 p.m. at the Martin Luther King Park on Herlihy Street. On Saturday, Dec. 12, Waveland will host its own Christmas parade, starting at 4 p.m. It will travel from Lafitte Street to Beach Boulevard and up Coleman Avenue. There will be an award for the best decorated golf cart. To be part of the parade, contact Kristen Tusa at krestentusa@gmail.com or 228-209-7399; or Tammy Fayard at tfayard@waveland-ms.gov, or 228-467-4134. Also on Saturday, Dec. 12, the annual Kiln Fire Truck Parade is scheduled to begin at noon at Bobinger Rd., winding up at the storm shelter on at Hw. 43, where Santa will greet the kids. For more, call 493-5666. St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church will host a Reindeer 5K Fun Run - 2-Mile Walk on Saturday December 19. Runners and walkers will take off from Washington Street on the Beach Walk at 8:00 a.m. and head south toward Aiken Street and return to the finish line at Washington Street. Favre said Bay St. Louis is also planning on hosting the second annual New Year’s Eve Oyster Drop.

PEARLS

had realized the American dream only to see it cruelly transformed into a nightmare after a tragic accident takes the life of his mother, his wife and their unborn child. “Pearls” begins years after Hart lost his only family in a crash on I-10 that occurred under suspicious circumstances. His hard-won career as a high-powered attorney for a prestigious New Orleans law firm is now behind him, thanks to his trouble coping with the loss. Now, he’s struggling day-to-day as a local attorney back home in the Bay, taking on more charity cases than anything lucrative, while his last chance at a court win against the firm that owned the truck that killed his family appears to be slipping away. Just when it seems he’s about to lose everything, he gets a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity — “an offer he can’t refuse” — to defend a businessman accused of murder who is purported to be the head of the New

Author Chris Johnson

Orleans mafia. Hart’s ready to reject the offer anyway, until he comes to believe his would-be client is actually innocent. Johnson’s book is populated by a host of colorful characters, including an eccentric New Orleans mafioso, a handful of hilarious but harmless local kooks and the beautiful, yet tragic and aloof sister of his new client. Johnson paints vivid portraits of both the French Quarter and the Bay, while immersing the reader in a tale that is by turns thrilling, heart-breaking and laugh-out-loud funny. Some readers might consider the tale “Grisham-esque,” not because it’s derivative of the famed Mississippi author’s works, but because it deftly plays in some of the same territory, from the courtrooms to the back alleys, with equal aplomb. Johnson still lives in Bay St. Louis, where he says he “practices law, fishes, plays golf, shoots pool, cooks ribs, and walks the beaches.” Chris Johnson’s “Pearls” is available both at Bay Books and on Amazon.
